We are looking for a self-sufficient couple to reside on our family farm in a rather remote area of North West province, with the nearest town being Swartruggens. Facilities would be extremely rudimentary, but the occupants would be free to make improvements if they so wished. There is an existing farm house which we use as a getaway destination occasionally, and this would be available initially until alternative accommodation can be provided. There is a small stream from which we get our water supply. There is no electricity, and very little cell phone coverage. We would be prepared to pay a very limited monthly.
